Rev. Nathan Becker Brief Bio

Growing up as a missionary kid, our guest speaker's passion has always been to see the people around him grow and develop. Young people inspire him because he believes that they have great potential to change the world. This week Nathan hopes to draw on his experiences as youth pastor, counselor and friend of young people across the country to inspire you to the greatest friendship you will ever know, a relationship with Christ. Nathan's current ministry is in christian education. He is an administrator at a Carolina Christian Academy in Thomasville, NC where he lives with his wife Karra their two children. Introduce yourself, he would enjoy getting to know you!
